ABOUT THE PROJECT

Bridges of Colour – Crafting Peace and Unity through Art

Bridges of Colour-Crafting Peace and Unity through Art is an initiative born from the belief that creativity can heal, empower, and connect young people across borders. Rooted in the aftermath of current social and emotional challenges, especially those intensified by conflict, the project brings together 42 young participants from diverse countries to explore how art can become a bridge between cultures, experiences and perspectives. Through painting, drama, music, collaborative murals and other artistic forms, the project creates a safe space where youth can express emotions, confront trauma, and discover new forms of dialogue.

Beyond artistic expression, the project places strong emphasis on civic engagement and youth participation. By learning about European youth policies and exploring their roles within local and international decision-making processes, participants grow not only as artists, but as active citizens capable of influencing positive social change. Through discussions, reflection sessions, and shared creative work, they develop essential skills such as teamwork, empathy, leadership, and conflict resolution.

At its core, Bridges of Colour aims to foster unity and understanding in a world marked by division. The collective artwork produced during the exchange stands as a symbol of hope, peace, and multicultural cooperation. By empowering young people to become peacebuilders and changemakers within their own communities, the project ensures that the impact of these creative encounters resonates long after the programme concludes. Through art, dialogue, and shared experience, Bridges of Colour inspires a generation ready to rewrite the narrative of conflict into one of resilience, solidarity, and harmony.

OBJECTIVES

1. Enhancing Awareness of Youth Policies

The project aims to deepen young participants' understanding of European youth policy frameworks. By clarifying the roles and responsibilities of all stakeholders, it helps youth navigate and influence the systems that shape their lives, promoting the political involvement of the general public.

2. Fostering Active Political Participation

It seeks to remove barriers that prevent young people from participating in political processes. The project encourages youth to advocate for their rights, combat political apathy, and become active contributors to their communities.

3. Encouraging Cultural Exchange and Understanding

Through artistic workshops and collaborative activities, participants explore and celebrate their diverse cultural identities. This cultural exchange builds empathy, breaks stereotypes, and strengthens intercultural cooperation.

4. Promoting Emotional Resilience through Art

Art is used as a therapeutic medium to help youth process emotional and psychological impacts caused by conflict, particularly the war in Ukraine. Activities in painting, drama, music, and sculpture encourage healing, empathy, and hope.

5. Facilitating Intercultural Dialogue

By working together on creative projects, participants engage in meaningful dialogue, learn from one another's experiences, and build stronger social cohesion.

6. Empowering Youth as Change Agents

The project aims to equip young people with leadership skills and the confidence to engage in conflict prevention and peacebuilding activities in their home communities.

7. Creating Lasting Resources and Outputs

The initiative includes permanent outputs, such as community art exhibitions and publications, ensuring that the knowledge and experiences gained remain accessible beyond the project's duration.

8. Reframing the Narrative Around Conflict

The project seeks to shift conversations about conflict toward themes of unity, healing, and optimism. By enabling youth to confront trauma creatively, it nurtures long-term relationships across cultural divides.

ABOUT THE MOBILITY

The mobility activity of the Bridges of Colour project is a 5-day youth exchange activity. It will take place in Thessaloniki, Greece, from 15-21 February 2026 (including travel days) bringing together 42 young participants from Greece, Bulgaria, Ukraine, Romania, Lithuania, Poland and Serbia.

Designed as an immersive experience, the mobility includes hands-on workshops, where participants explore various artistic techniques, using creativity as a means of dialogue and healing. Alongside artistic practice, the mobility integrates discussions on European youth policies, enabling participants to better understand their role in civic engagement and policymaking.

Purpose of the Youth Exchange

The activity aims to:

- Use artistic expression as a tool for healing, dialogue, and peacebuilding.
- Foster intercultural understanding and cooperation.
- Develop key personal and social skills, such as teamwork, communication, and conflict resolution.
- Empower youth to engage in civic participation, introducing them to European youth policies.

Each organisation involved in the project will contribute 6 young participants who will take part in the full training programme.
